GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Bernhardt's Admirers.

New York, Nov. 14.—The Tribune's London special says: The English and French journals publish numerous details of Bernhardt's success, giving the substance of the criticisms of the New York papers and adding long accounts of her reception upon her arrival; the English and French public manifesting great interest in the demonstration in America. Several private dispatches from Bernhardt herself say that she is enchanted with the cordiality of her welcome and considers the American audience singularly quick of comprehension and of cultivated and keen artistic perceptions. She praises the excellence of the arrangements of the theater, is delighted with New York and declares that the success she has achieved surpasses her expectation.

Heavy Mortgage.

New York, Nov. 13.—Oliver and Oakes A. Ames, said to be sons of Oliver and Oakes Ames, of Northeastern Massachusetts, mortgaged Booth's theater to trustees under the will of Augustus Hemenway for $150,000. The mortgage is for three years with interest at five per cent.

Assignment.

New York, Nov. 13.—The schedule in the assignment of Christopher Rigley and Leander S. Rigley to Logan J. O'Brien was filed to-day in the court of common pleas; liabilities, $900,785; nominal assets, $[illegible]; actual assets, $222,047.

Bank Surplus.

New York, Nov. 13.—The banks hold half a million above the legal requirements.

Bank Failures.

Hackensack, N. J., Nov. 13.—The excitement over the failure of two banks continues. Throngs of men and women, some weeping, are about the doors of the savings bank. Many have lost money they have been years in accumulating. It now appears that [illegible] J. Berry, cashier of the bank of Bergen county, has embezzled about $120,000. Wm. M. Johnson, who was appointed receiver, is investigating the accounts.

The Sprague Family Troubles.

Providence, Nov. 13.—Willie Sprague, son of ex-Senator Sprague, was in court at Wakefield to-day on two complaints—one for assault with a dangerous weapon and the other for assault with intent to kill. Abiel Thompson is his mother's trustee. Testimony conflicting—Thompson testified: Willie Sprague fired at him. Lewis Green was present; testified that he and Willie were firing for fun and Willie fired some 50 feet distant from Thompson as the latter happened [illegible].

Sentenced for Embezzlement.

Easton, Pa., Nov. 13.—P. H. Burges, for many years business manager for John Jerinyer, coal operator, was to-day sentenced to eight years and four months in the penitentiary for embezzling $50,000.

The California Wrestler Defeated by McMahon.

Burlington, Nov. 13.—The wrestling match between W. J. Farrell of California, and John McMahon of Vermont, for the championship belt of America and $1000, took place at Lyceum Hall to-night, and resulted in a victory for McMahon, who succeeded in throwing Farrell twice out of three times. A large crowd was in attendance, and an hour and a half was consumed in deciding the contest.

Railroad War.

[illegible], Ind., Nov. 13.—The Lake Erie and Western continues war on rates, selling tickets to Chicago from here at $9; from Toledo, $11; from [illegible], $13, or from two to six dollars less than the Chicago rate.

Grand Anniversary Dinner.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Hon. John B. Drake, proprietor of the Grand Pacific Hotel, to-night gave the 25th anniversary dinner to his friends. The occasion was socially brilliant, being the quarter centennial entertainment of the kind, and every section of the country contributed of its game products to grace the tables. Five hundred and fifty guests were present, including among others Lt. Gen. P. H. Sheridan and wife, the Earl of Airlie and daughter, Lady [illegible] Ogilvy, Scotland; ex-Minister E. B. Washburne and wife, and Hon. Walker Wood and party, of [illegible] N. Y.; also residents of London, Paris, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Paul, Louisville, Rock Island, and the elite of this city.

Congregational Council—Addresses by Drs. Storrs and Noble on the Far West.

[illegible], Nov. 13.—In the Congregational council [illegible] Dr. Storrs spoke encouragingly of the far west. In Dakota there were already twenty-two Congregational churches and in nine years with [illegible] encouragement he believed there would be [illegible] Colorado. Twelve churches had been added [illegible] year, and in Utah, Wyoming and Idaho [illegible] similar great religious fields requiring [illegible] development.

[illegible] Dr. Noble, of Union Park church, Chicago, read a very able paper on the new west in which he denounced Mormonism in strong terms. He alluded to [illegible] made by that faith a labratory of filth, [illegible] wrong for three decades. He said [illegible] and the courts had done next to nothing to [illegible] put down the monstrous evil. From Mormonism the Doctor drifted to the Jesuitism of New Mexico and said the Roman Catholic church was responsible for all the lawlessness and disorder [illegible] territories where Mormonism had spread. [illegible] these evils, he said, the government must send the best men to its frontier for its officials. [illegible] and teachers must be sent, especially the [illegible] they excite less prejudice than the preachers.

Attacked by Indians.

[illegible], Nov. 13.—A party of Sioux Indians fired upon [illegible] who were going to the mouth of Mussel[illegible] river to receive provisions. One horse was killed and two wounded. No men were injured. [illegible] were sent from Fort Keogh and no [illegible] is received. It was feared that Sitting Bull's band might assist the hostiles.

Hanged.

[illegible], Texas, Nov. 13.—Warren Sheppard was hanged yesterday. Sheppard exhorted his colored friends to take warning from his fate. He said that he was ready but not willing to die. Shaking hands with those around him he said good-bye at 2:30 and was launched into eternity. The fall broke his neck and he died without a struggle. Thousands witnessed the execution.

Suicide.

[illegible], Nov. 13.—Miss Jennie Spencer, daughter of Richard Spencer, secretary of the gas company, committed suicide by hanging to-day. The cause was mental depression. She moved in the best circles of society and was universally respected.

Carried out his Threat.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14.—At three o'clock this morning Madame Somers, a fashionable modiste, was aroused by the ringing of the door bell. Going to the window she saw her husband, Thomas W. Somers, from whom she was divorced last May on account of drunkenness and cruelty, leaning against a post. As he had threatened her life if she procured a divorce, she sent a boy for a policeman, who on arrival found the man dead with a bullet hole in his temple and a pistol by his side. Somers had carried out his often threat that if his wife got a divorce he would die on her doorstep.

Smallpox.

[illegible], Nov. 14.—Smallpox is sweeping off by scores the Canadian Indians, on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and such is the panic that those not afflicted flee from the dead and dying.

Killed by an Engine.

Struck a Rock.

[illegible], Nov. 14.—While the steamboat [illegible], of Starin's harbor fleet, was coming to [illegible] from Newbern Saturday night, with about [illegible] excursionists it ran on to a rock ten miles above [illegible] Montgomery and sprung a leak. The captain, [illegible] and the men went ashore, made a fire and remained there for the night. In the morning [illegible] and 4 o'clock they were taken on board [illegible] in small boats and brought to the city. [illegible] Blackbird floated to-day.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Silver Distributed.

Washington, Nov. 13.—During the week ended to-day there were 415,994 standard silver dollars distributed. During the corresponding period in 1879 there were 291,499.

The Cabinet.

New York, Nov. 13.—A Washington special, speculating on Garfield's cabinet, says: The Pacific coast [illegible] had a representative in the cabinet since [illegible] General Williams was with Grant. It [illegible] Garfield to appoint one now. Senator [illegible] will be out of employment on March 4th. He [illegible], a strong friend of Blaine. He is fairly [illegible] man and used to the transaction of public business. He is also a lucky man. He is certainly [illegible].

Annual Reports.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The annual reports of Gen. Pope and Ord are now made public. Gen. Pope gives a detailed history of the troubles with the Utes in Colorado and New Mexico, which he declares have not yet been wholly settled. Of the situation in the country Gen. Pope says with the present military arrangements and the provisions of the agreement with the Utes there will certainly be no trouble this winter. He attributes the outbreak of Victorio to a determined purpose of the interior department to effect the removal of his band to San Carlos agency, Arizona, and says: "I do not know the reasons for the interior department insisting upon the removal, but certainly they should be exceptional to justify the great trouble and severe loss [illegible] incurred by the attempt to coerce a removal." [illegible] trouble with the Indians has always been in relation to their food, and, [illegible] Pope recommends to the secretary of the interior that he forbid Indian agents to punish or seek to control the actions of Indians by withholding provisions from them.

Application for Rehearing the Giant Powder Case.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Hall McCallister, from San Francisco, and C. Austin Browne, from Boston, came to Washington a few days ago to apply to Justice Field for a rehearing of the giant powder case, in which Judge Field, while holding the California circuit court last month, decided that the reissue of the patent of that company's is invalid. The two lawyers presented their petition in person and pressed it with great earnestness, but the judge replied that the only proper place to present the application would be in the court at San Francisco; that it could not even then be considered until notice should be served on the opposing parties and the application set down for argument and consideration by the court regularly, and that in no event would he (Judge Field) entertain the application in Washington. The company's counsel objected to this on the ground that Judge Sawyer would not act upon the matter during Justice Field's absence, but the latter replied that the regular course of procedure must be pursued, adding that a copy of the petition would readily be sent him after serving notice on the other side. Messrs. McAllister and Browne have now started homeward, and will doubtless soon submit their application to the circuit court in San Francisco, but do not expect that it will be acted on by Judge Sawyer until he shall have forwarded a copy to Judge Field and obtained his opinion as to the advisability of granting it. The case is of great importance to mining interests throughout the country, and especially in California.

GENERAL POLITICAL NEWS.

The Complexion of the Next House.

New York, Nov. 13.—A Washington special says the democrats have not given up the hope of capturing the next house of representatives. Already notices have been served of fourteen contests, and as Clerk Adams has the making up of the roll-call in these contests, gives great significance to Springer's recent remarks in this city, that when the complexion of the next house was discussed that all he cared about was to know how Adams would stand, and the republican congressional committee has been informed that the republicans will contest the following districts: First and second Alabama; first and second Louisiana; third and ninth Missouri; first, second, third and fifth South Carolina, and the second and sixth Mississippi. There is no reason to believe, however, that the republicans will lose the control of the house through these contests.

Bob Ingersoll Interviewed.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The Times' Washington special says the Post has a long interview with Bob Ingersoll on the probable policy of the Garfield administration. He declares there will be no personal rewards and revenges at the public expense; nothing neutral. As to the south, the democracy will never have another candidate for president, and the south will not remain solid.

Dorsey's Denial.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The Star this evening prints a letter from ex-Senator Dorsey denying the report, which originated in that paper, that he is a candidate for the secretaryship of the U. S. senate. He also says: "I served as a member of the senate for six years, and that fact alone, if there were no other reasons, would prevent me accepting the subordinate position indicated; but beyond this, I am not a candidate for that or any other place and shall accept none. If the senate should be reorganized on the 4th of March next or two years from that time, and a new secretary is to be chosen, it seems to me that Mr. George C. Gorham ought to be selected to fill the position he occupied for eleven years with great credit to himself and honor to the senate. If any change takes place, the senate would honor itself, its history and traditions more than it would Mr. Gorham by restoring him to his old place."

In Favor of Preserving the Corpse.

Greenville, S. C., Nov. 13.—The Daily News publishes a letter from Senator Hampton saying: "I think it very important, especially to the south, that the democratic party should retain its organization. The fact that our friends of the north were not able to give us as large a vote as they hoped for, is no reason why we should desert them. The policy of the party will be dictated by future events. I regard the presidential election as settled, and I should oppose any action looking to contest on mere technical grounds as revolutionary."

"Fraud" Committees Appointed.

New York, Nov. 13.—A meeting of prominent democrats was held to-night to take action on alleged frauds at the recent election. It was resolved to appoint committees as follows: On frauds and on coercion, to receive and act upon information in regard to fraud and coercion perpetrated in this city by republicans; a committee to investigate not more than twelve electoral districts in order to thoroughly prepare the case for consideration by congress, and that they include in the investigation the persecution of colored democrats by colored republicans; committee on federal intimidation; to investigate the doings of Davenport and his men, and a committee on prevention of frauds in the future.

Garfield and Foster.

The Herald's Cleveland special says: Great curiosity has been felt to know if the meeting between Garfield and Foster had any significance as regards a senatorship or the cabinet. Foster emphatically said he was a candidate for senator all the way through, and meant to strive hard to obtain the position.

"Have you had any conversation to-day, or at any time, with Garfield concerning his cabinet?" asked the correspondent.

"No," replied Foster, "except in a general way. Garfield does not know what his cabinet will be."

The Raid of Office-Seekers.

A Herald special says: Garfield's troubles at Mentor may be said to have just commenced, now that he has been elected. The horde of office-seekers begin to pounce down upon him in every way, shape and manner.

Minnesota's Majority.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 13.—Official returns from all but three counties in Minnesota increase Garfield's majority to 40,285.

Kentucky's Vote.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—With 18 counties to hear from the vote now stands: Hancock, 135,241; Garfield, 94,940. Democratic majority 4030.

Election Returns.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The secretary of state has received official returns of the late election from all counties of the state and St. Louis city, which show the following result: Hancock, 208,389; Garfield, 153,567; Weaver, 35,135; Hancock's plurality, 55,002; majority, 19,867.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—At the Bay District track to-day the trot between Col. S. A. Finnigan's stallion Santa Claus and Gov. Leland Stanford's mare Elaine, best three in five, for a purse of $750, was won by the stallion after the best contested race of the season. The first heat was won by Elaine in 2:20; second heat by Santa Claus in 2:18, third heat by Elaine easily, the stallion breaking and not recovering; fourth heat by Santa Claus, crossing the wire in a jog in 2:18½; fifth and last heat by Santa Claus in 2:20. The race attracted much attention, and was witnessed by a large crowd. Elaine was purchased for $[illegible] when a yearling by Gov. Stanford, and made the best three and four-year-old times, and never before lost a race. Santa Claus made the best five-year-old time, 2:[illegible], and also never lost a race, and the event of to-day has been looked for by horsemen as one of the most important ever trotted on the Pacific coast. Betting before the race was [illegible] on Elaine against Santa Claus. The track was in admirable order, and the day all that could be desired. [illegible] Finnigan drove Santa Claus and Marvin drove Elaine. Between heats Gov. PILLORIED INFAMY.

EXPOSURE OF THE CAMPAIGN OF FORGERY AND FRAUD.

Philp Held to Answer by Justice Davis—Observations on Barnum and Hewitt as Principals.

Moral Aspects of the Contest as Seen through the Conduct of these Shining Lights of the Democratic Committee.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Nov. 13.—Judge Davis this morning rendered an elaborate decision in the case of Philp, accused of two offenses: First, that he wrote the so-called letter, counterfeiting the signature of Garfield thereto, and second, that after Garfield made a public denial of having written such letter, the accused wrote an editorial and asserted that Gen. Garfield was a liar in denying the authorship of it. It is apparent, his honor says, no such person as Henry L. Morey existed at Lynn, Massachusetts. The letter is undoubtedly a forgery and not in the handwriting of Garfield. The question of the guilt or innocence of Philp must be left to a jury to determine. Defendant is held to answer the charge of criminal libel, and must be committed, or give bail.

Judge Davis said: Mr. Hewitt's connection with the transaction is of a most extraordinary character. Hart testified that when he received the letter in the very singular way in which it reached him his suspicions were aroused. He saw its importance, if genuine, as a weapon of deadly power in the hands of Garfield's political foes. He was not satisfied to publish it upon the examination which he and his editorial staff could make, and therefore took the letter and envelope to the democratic national committee for inspection. He there saw Hewitt, Mr. Barnum, Randall and several others. Mr. Hart showed them the papers and said in substance that he did not want to publish the letter if it was a forgery, but if genuine he did not want any other paper to get ahead of him. He says it was examined by all the persons named; but Mr. Hewitt made the closest and most careful examination and then pronounced the letter, both body and signature, to be in the handwriting of Garfield. Photographs were then taken for the use of the national committee and Hart returned with the letter to the office, but his mind was not fully satisfied and so late in the evening he sought and found Mr. Hewitt again and was assured that Hewitt had examined a large number of Garfield's letters, and that the Morey letter was genuine and this was clinched by the impression on Mr. Hart's mind with the idea that he would have made it out a forgery if he could. It is not very surprising that Hart with the usual anxiety of newspaper publishers to be ahead of their neighbors should have published the letter without further inquiry, but it is astounding that a man of known sagacity and of great experience in business and public affairs and who is supposed to have a decent respect for truth and justice, and who speaks as an expert in writing with all suspicious circumstances that attended the reception of the letter, with the envelope and its erasures before him, with the city post office and station stamp on its back, with the letter marked "personal and confidential," and addressed to some person whom he did not know, with the letter before him the contents which if true would be greatly injurious and, if false would do wrong to his intimate friends, as base and wicked as an assassin's stab, should have thought it just to press and cause its publication without removing all doubts as to its character.

However much an equitable division may leave for others upon Mr. Hewitt must rest the larger part of the responsibility of the first publication of the base and shameful forgery, and his subsequent relation to the forgery does not [illegible] a single shadow from his conduct. He was a member of the national committee. He doubtless knew the extent and purposes for which it was taken and used by that committee, and that it went forth to the country with his sanction and endorsement. He knew beyond question that it met speedily with an indignant denial of General Garfield, who denounced the letter as a "base and stupid forgery and its sentiments as brutal."

Right thinking men everywhere must want not only the guilty punished for this appalling crime, but laws enacted to properly meet such cases in the future. It is wholly at war with the safety and sanctity of popular government. Fortunately no [illegible] of men hold the consciences of the people, and no party feeling is strong enough to interpose the sentence of condemnation which all honest men of all parties pronounce upon such guilt. The men most guilty in this matter may not be brought to justice, but they will find no party willing to bear the just measure of infamy and scorn that awaits them. As they failed in their guilty purpose they will fail of the approval of those even for whose success they have done the guilty work.

The genuineness of the Morey letter is a very important factor in the case. Philp must be held to answer unless he can show that Garfield wrote the letter.

Judge Davis also says: "My mind has reached a clear conviction that the so-called Morey letter, in body, signature and all its parts, is not in the handwriting of General Garfield, but is altogether a forgery perpetrated by some person or body of persons for the purpose of deceiving the people and defrauding them and Gen. Garfield of their votes. The evidence bearing upon Philp's guilt or innocence of the forgery is voluminous and would demand a careful analysis. Taken in connection with other evidence in the case, it tends to establish a conspiracy to accomplish a national crime. Conspiracy points to men in other quarters and of higher positions, of whom he may have been an accomplice or only a dupe and fool. It is better, therefore, that the question of the actual guilt of the forgery be left to the consideration of a jury before whom additional and perhaps more decisive evidence may be brought. It will be small consolation to know they have gained by this a few useless electoral votes, incited an infuriated mob to murder a few unoffending human beings and caused a few of their own agents to suffer for perjury and misdemeanor."

During the delivery of the decision the court room was very quiet, the auditors listening with the closest attention to every word. Amusement was manifested by smiles during the passage portraying the utter failure of the attempts to show that such a person as Henry L. Morey ever had an existence, and there was a slight ripple as many of the spectators turned to look at one another during the comments of the court on Mr. Hewitt's connection with the case. When Judge Davis closed by announcing that he should hold the prisoner, General Pryor put the question as to the amount of bail. The court said bail could remain as already fixed, $5,000, and the present bondsmen would be accepted. At the suggestion of Mr. Brook the court consented to adjourn the preparation of the new bond until Monday at 12 M.

Counsel for Mr. Hart rose and said that the witness Lindsey in his confession, had alleged that he (the counsel) when conversing with him before witness testified, remarked: "That is all you will have to swear to." The counsel denies this, and asserted he only said to witness: "That will do," meaning that the interview was ended.

Judge Davis said he had nothing to do with this, but exculpated the counsel from any charge of improper behavior in the public proceedings. He referred to the latter's conduct in securing the production of the Morey letter and envelope in court, and counsel expressed his thanks for the court's remarks. The court room was then vacated.

Hewitt Replies to Judge Davis.

Abram S. Hewitt makes a reply to the opinion of Judge Davis in the Philp case so far as it relates to himself. Hewitt says: The judge who sits upon the bench is supposed to know the evidence which has been given by a witness. Certainly he should examine before he undertakes to make a statement as to its nature, and to draw conclusions from it. That Judge Davis has not performed this duty, the following comparison of his statement with my testimony will serve to prove. A passage is quoted from the opinion in which it is made to appear that the Morey letter was not published until after Mr. Hart had it examined by Hewitt. Hewitt says: Now the simple and unanswerable reply to all this statement, that the extraordinary comments in which Judge Davis has seen fit to indulge, is that the letter had already been published in the Truth before I had seen Mr. Hart or the original letter or any copy of it. This fact Judge Davis must have known when he penned the above lines, because I had sworn in his presence and after cross-examination by Mr. Stoughton, in which Mr. Bliss was interviewed to verify the dates, that the interview with Mr Hart and examination of the letter took place on the 20th of October, after its publication in Truth, and not before. I do not know whether Mr. Hart made a mistake in his testimony as to the date, but if he did there is no possible justification for Judge Davis to base a statement on this mistake in order to attack from the bench the character of citizens after the date had been fixed beyond possibility of all controversy. While writing this statement I sent a messenger to Mr. Hart to ascertain whether he had ever made any declaration at variance with the facts as I have stated them. Mr. Hart replies that he never said, testified or thought that Hewitt or any one connected with the national committee saw the letter in advance of the publication of the text of the letter in Truth on the 20th of October. I never pronounced the body and the signature of the letter to be in the handwriting of Gen. Garfield. On the contrary, in the presence of Mr. Hart and all the gentlemen present, I declared the body of the letter not to be in the handwriting of Garfield.

The second or amended fac-similes were published in the Truth, over which it is not pretended that the committee had any control. I forbear to make any commentary whatever upon the extraordinary character of the opinion produced by Judge Davis. It is enough for me to point out that the foundation upon which he has built up an attack upon my character is false in fact, and with this demonstration the consequences can only be damaging to himself. I was prepared for this attack by the evidently prearranged preliminary statement of Mr. Stoughton in the Times on Friday. I am now forced to believe that it is a concerted scheme to [illegible] in this community, where I have lived for fifty years [illegible] Judge Davis [illegible].

The Effects of the Forgery.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[illegible]

[illegible]

What do you think of the [illegible] which Barnum and Hewitt [illegible]

Mr. Barnum [illegible] forged paper [illegible] How difficult the task will be [illegible] piece of political scoundrelism. Mr. Abram S. Hewitt first gave character to this forgery by declaring it to be genuine. He seems never to have paid himself the trouble of inquiring of General Garfield, nor of submitting the forged letter to the handwriting experts, nor of testing the genuineness of the envelope, nor of endeavoring to ascertain whether any such man as H. L. Morey ever lived, nor of ferreting out the curious statement that the letter was found in his effects, nor of endeavoring to ascertain what those effects were and where they were when administered on, where he lived or what he was. Indeed he seems to have industriously shut his eyes and ears to even the most superficial indications tending to show that the letter itself was a fabrication. Hewitt's cross examination places him in a very unenviable and unfortunate position, from which he will find it quite difficult to relieve himself.

The Herald and the Tribune on the Forgers.

New York, Nov. 13.—The Tribune says the logic of Judge Davis's decision of the Philp case implies that every member of the national democratic committee known to have been engaged in publishing and circulating the forged letter can be prosecuted for malicious libel. That committee purchased and scattered broadcast over the country hundreds of thousands of the so-called fac similes and sent duplicate plates to democratic newspaper offices where hundreds of thousands of additional copies were made and distributed at second hand. Not only those who heaped up the dunghills but those who have besmeared their fingers with this Chinese smudge are liable to prosecution.

The Herald comments thus: It is a sad event for Hewitt, after a life of more than half a century distinguished by a display of personal abilities of a high order, and public speech of more than ordinary merit to be thus pilloried from the judicial bench for complicity with villanies of the vilest type. We are free to declare our own firm persuasion, and we believe that we speak the general sentiment of his fellow-citizens, that no conscious turpitude whatever, but only intense partisanship and blind self-will have brought him to this wretched pass. How he will meet the charge we do not know, but we trust for his own sake that he will not meet it with a spirit of reckless defiance. The surest way to wipe off the aspersion on his character is a manful acknowledgement of the wrong in which he has been an innocent though efficient partner, and the humble and zealous devotion of himself to the duty of crushing those criminals who have placed him in their gang of uttering a base forgery.

Probabilities of Indictment.

New York, Nov. 14.—The grand jury will reassemble to-morrow morning, but it is not likely that any additional indictments will be found to-morrow against the prisoners implicated in the forged Morey letter. Kennard Philp's bail will be renewed. An indictment is not likely to be found against him before Wednesday. That one will be brought in as follows, as a matter of course, after the decision of Judge Davis. The only indictment actually found thus far is that against O'Brien, alias Lindsey. The bill against him has been ordered, but has not been formally filed. Samuel S. Morey will be used as a witness by the prosecution. The evidence against Philp is practically complete, and under it, it is said, he can not well escape conviction by a fair, impartial jury, should the prosecution desire to press for it. What is deemed very desirable by the prosecution, however, is to trace all ramifications, follow each and secure all evidence possible. This is being done with success that is gratifying. Evidence that H. L. Morey ever existed is fast being blown away.

THE STELLARTON HORROR.

Details of the Terrific Explosion in the Albion Mines—Bodies of two Victims only Recovered of the Fifty Lost—The Village in Mourning.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Stellarton, N. S., Nov. 14.—An exploring party went down into the Foord pit again this morning, but could not get further than on the first attempt, owing to the damp. They saw evidence that the pit is on fire yet. The pumps are stopped to allow the water to raise and drown the fire. Only two bodies have been recovered, and hopes of getting the rest are small.

11:30 A. M.—Last night Gilpin, government inspector of mines, and the local manager, with a gang of men went down the shaft and made a short exploration. They found the atmosphere a little clearer than during the day, and the party were enabled to penetrate further along the main railway to the south. They found the bodies of three men and a number of dead horses. Two of the bodies they were able to take with them to the surface, but the third was so tightly jammed into a heap of fallen timber and rubbish, that the attempt to extricate it would be incurring danger unnecessarily, as the rubbish would certainly fall upon any one touching it. The choke-damp was still too thick to allow of exploring very far but on one of the boards on the start from the main railway a faint smell of smoke and slightly warmer atmosphere could be detected, which showed that it was not improbable that fire still remained in the mine. When the party came to the surface a crowd had collected to hear the latest news. Two dead bodies were carried into the temporary dead house. One was identified as that of McGillivray, but the other was charred and disfigured so as to be unrecognizable. One miner who escaped says, in trying to get to the shaft he stumbled across the prostrate form of an old man. He stopped, and calling some others running by to his assistance got him into a cage to go to the surface and then looking about he found a little boy apparently dead. He was only insensible, and he got the little fellow and old man to the surface, and then found he had rescued his own son and his poor old father. A brother was still below. In the morning James Hudson, Greener, and two or three other picked men went down into the shaft. The party were able to go further into the gallery than the previous night. The choke-damp was clearing away, a fire was discovered to be burning a little further on the brick stopping the closing. Another unused passage was found, and here a dense black smoke was coming out with a roar like escaping steam. The men at once ran back to the rest of the party, and as all were now in the greatest danger, rapidly got to the pit bottom and ascended to the surface.

The local manager, government inspector, several of the foremen and old miners were called to a meeting in the company's office and a plan of the mine was spread out on a table and the location of the fire fixed as well as possible, and the best action discussed. It was determined to flood the portion of the mine where the fire seems to proceed, as if prompt measures were not taken further explosions were not unlikely at any moment, the consequence of which might be serious. On the surface all night the ceaseless tapping of small hammers were heard in one of the carpenter shops, and on returning from the mouth of the shaft the spectacle was one which is not often seen. The place had been converted into an undertaker's shop. Coffins were being made by scores that no delay might be occasioned. The number lost might be as high as fifty. The dangerous state of the mine will render recovery of bodies impossible for many days, perhaps weeks. In the dead house a huge platform is erected breast high, so that there would be ample room for the bodies as fast as found. An old man viewed a body which could not be recognized night before last, and at once identified it as that of his son-in-law, Job Skinner. His boots and legs are charred, one hand roasted, face burnt black and the top of his head crushed to a jelly. The body of McGillivray, the other, is but little disfigured, death having evidently been caused by the choke damp. The inquest will be commenced by Dr. Murray at 12 o'clock. In the village Wm. Dunbar is in bed in a semi-unconscious condition. He is the only rescued man who was seriously injured. He was lamp cleaner and had a cabin at the bottom of the pit. He is unable to speak long enough to tell his story; but his wife says, as far as she can gather from what he said, he was in the cabin at the time of the explosion. He saw the fire burst in the back door, and he rushed out front and fell on his face. His oil soaked clothing had, however, caught fire and was burning when his son in coming to the pit bottom found him, and extinguishing his garments, with some assistance got him to the surface. The old man is badly burned on the back and right side in one spot and on the chest and nose. One arm is so badly burned that the skin peeled down over the hand. He did not complain of suffering much which is considered a bad sign. He has frequent delirious periods. He is seventy years old and his recovery is doubtful. All other rescued men are out of danger and able to converse about their escape. All tell the same tale. They had been suddenly struck down and knew nothing of the cause. There is great mourning among the cottages, blinds are down in every third or fourth place. Those suddenly made widows have large families of young children, and if generous assistance is not extended to them, their suffering this winter will be great indeed. Work has been almost wholly suspended in the mines since the disaster.

Stellarton, N. S., Nov. 15.—The pit is flooded and all danger considered over. No more bodies can be recovered.

CONTINUED EXPLOSIONS.

No Additional Lives Lost, but all the Mining Property in Imminent Danger—Great Excitement.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Stellarton, Nov. 14.—At 10 o'clock last night another very heavy explosion occurred, blowing the roof and gear of the fan, shaft, timbers and bricks high into the air. The descending debris fell on the workshops which are in the vicinity, and the roofs of the carpenter shop and boiler house are riddled with holes, some of them of immense size. The noise of the explosion was heard two miles. Fortunately no one was injured, though the engineers of the fan engine and two others working close by with difficulty escaped the falling debris. More explosions were expected during the night, but although a cloud of smoke is issuing from the fan shaft nothing more occurred.

At 10 o'clock this morning considerable smoke was issuing from the shaft, and as the blacksmith shop, lamp shop, sawmill and machine shop and foundry, all wooden buildings except the latter, are exposed by the [illegible] of the new Glasgow steam fire engine was obtained to try if possible to save these buildings in case of fire, and also to pour a stream of water into the burning pit. A large crowd were standing about the works [illegible]

[illegible] to flood the mine with water from the river, which is close by. This is the last resort, and it will take a good while to get sufficient water in to drown the fire. It is hoped that the fire may be confined to the Foord pit and prevented from extending to the workings of the Cage pit, situated half a mile west of Foord pit. The former is connected with the latter by a tunnel. Should these works be destroyed, the effect on the working classes connected with the mine will be terrible, and great misery must result. The employes of the company number over 500. Other and more serious explosions may occur at any time. The greatest excitement exists.

THE AGITATION IN IRELAND.

Ostracising the Land League.

Dublin, Nov. 13.—Portadown artisans have instituted a movement for ostracising members of the land league by refusing to deal with or work for any members of that organization.

Not an Agent.

Wheeler, killed near Cola, county Limerick, was the son of a Protestant farmer and not an agent. He had taken a farm from which the tenants had been evicted.

Placarded.

The women who sold food to one of the Orangemen were placarded last night.

Landlord Leaving.

Lord Clanricarde has taken a house at Mellon, Newbray, adjacent [illegible], Ireland, for the winter. The effect of his leaving Ireland will be to deprive labor of employment to the extent of £4000 a year.

Sunday Diversions.

A land meeting will be held at the gates of Boycott's house on Sunday. Twelve other land meetings will be held the same day.

False Report.

London, Nov. 14.—The report that a woman had been "searched" for selling food to one of the Orangemen at Lough Mask turns out to be wholly false.

Bishops at Rome to Aid Parnell.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Cashel has written from Rome to Gray, lord mayor of Dublin, stating that the bishops at Rome desire to subscribe for a fund for Parnell's defense.

Another Meeting.

John Dillon, a member of parliament, addressed 6000 tenant farmers at Thurles yesterday.

Much Suffering among Orangemen.

Orangemen at Lough Mask have suffered great misery on account of heavy rains, against which their tents are no protection.

Boycott Must Leave.

London, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from Ballinrobe says the general opinion is that it will be absolutely necessary for Boycott to leave the country, as he will have to be protected if he remains in Ireland. It is reported that great preparations will be made for the departure of Orangemen from Lough Mask when their task is completed.

The Programme for Ireland.

New York, Nov. 14.—The World's London special says: So far as those in the confidence of the ministers can judge, the course of events in Ireland is likely to be about as follows: If the Boycott relief expedition accomplishes its object without bloodshed the government will not ask a suspension of the habeas corpus act, but will summon parliament a month earlier than usual—namely, about the first week in January—and bring down a new and sweeping Irish land measure. Should this be rejected, as it very probably would be, at least by the house of lords, Mr. Gladstone will promptly dissolve parliament and make an appeal to the country. Not a day is being lost in bringing the whole question to a practical issue.

London Comments on the Irish Land Question.

London, Nov. 13.—The Observer has reason to believe that the ministry do not contemplate any immediate attempt of a measure for the preservation of peace, but intend to defer action until the meeting of parliament, which may be expected early in January.

The St. James Gazette in a leading editorial yesterday evening expressed the fear that the ministry are driven or being driven towards legislation creating peasant proprietors throughout Ireland, probably with a view of extending the operation to the rest of the United Kingdom later on. The ultimate means will probably be the purchase of land by the state and its distribution to peasantry to be paid for in a certain term of years. Nothing short of this will be accepted by Irish agitators.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

CALIFORNIA.

Nevada's Voice on the Chinese Question.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—At the late election in the state of Nevada the question of Chinese immigration was submitted to the voters, and from appearances those opposed to the coming of Mongolians preponderate in about the same ratio as was made apparent by the vote of California on the same question two years ago, the official returns of Storey county footing up 3114 against to 13 in favor.

Assessment.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Union levies an assessment of $1.

In Contempt.

In the superior court this morning Judge Ferral made an order commanding Mayor Kalloch to appear two weeks from to-day and show cause why he should not be committed for contempt on account of his utterances at Metropolitan temple.

For Passing Counterfeit Money.

Vallejo, Nov. 14.—B. F. Nickle and J. L. Bowles, two Vallejo men, were arrested last evening for passing counterfeit standard dollars and having them in their possession.

Shooting Affray Between Brothers.

San Jose, Nov. 14.—To-day J. Graham Murdoch, foreman and mailing clerk of the Evening Herald, was shot and very seriously wounded at his father's residence by his younger brother, Robert, a boy about 17 years of age. It was some trivial quarrel growing out of a fuss about one of the rooms they were to occupy, and the younger supposed the other was about to strike him, when he pulled a small pistol and fired. It is said he shot twice, and that the first shot missed, and the bullet from the second struck the young man below the lower lip and the chin, breaking the under jaw and passing in under the tongue and either lodging at the root of the tongue or in the muscles at the back of the neck. Unless an artery is cut which can not yet be ascertained, he will recover.

Fraudulent Preacher.

Rev. H. H. Newton, rector of St. Paul's church, Nanaimo, sailed by the last steamer, leaving postcards and promises to pay for his creditors. His departure was very sudden and has given rise to some unpleasant gossip.

The manuscripts of few men have yielded more posthumous material than those of the late John Keble. Nearly all his sermons have been found worthy of publication. A second series of his spiritual letters has been gathered by one of his friends and other volumes are possible of the same sort. The latest volume is strictly devotional. It is edited with a preface, by the Rev. R. F. Wilson, and has the title, "Outlines of Instructions or Meditations on the Church's Seasons."

THE BOURBON BREAK-UP.

What the Independent Movement Has Done in Virginia—Families Divided and Old Friends on Opposite Sides—Changed Social Relations—Good Work of Mahone and His Men.

[Correspondence New York Times.]

Petersburg, Va., Oct. 29.—One of the most noteworthy features of the extraordinary political contest now going on in Virginia is to be found in the fact that the women and children are quite as violent in their partisanship as are the men. True to their southern instincts, the people have taken their political differences into their homes, and the result has been a social revolution almost as extensive as that which is progressing with regard to the affairs of the state. Virginia is doubtless the most liberal and enlightened commonwealth in the south; but even Virginia was not prepared for a movement in politics which cast aside the old fogy bourbon leaders, trampled upon prejudices which grew out of the old system of slavery, broke down lines of caste which have existed here for generations, and declared that no man or set of men had rights different or greater than those enjoyed by their fellows. And all this has been done by the brave men, calling themselves readjusters, who are at the head of the independent movement in Virginia. I say brave men, and they well deserve the title, for they have not only displayed physical courage when called upon to do so, but have given many evidences of moral bravery, a quality somewhat rare in this part of the country. They have dared to do what they believed to be right, even at the risk of giving offense to "the native and best." They have risked social standing, as well as political power, by daring to set themselves up against the ruling clique, and by declaring that a negro's vote under the law was quite as potential as a white man's, and should be so regarded and counted.

When Gen. Mahone and the leading readjusters first announced this doctrine there were many who believed they did so only for political effect, and among certain very knowing bourbons there was a good deal of sly amusement regarding the new trick which was being played upon the "niggers." But as the event has proved they were mistaken in their men; Mahone and his friends intended no trick. This they abundantly proved by faithfully carrying out all their promises, by giving negroes and republicans a share in the state and local governments and by protecting the freemen in their rights of citizenship. The storm of indignation which this action has aroused here cannot be exaggerated. The shame, trouble and mortifications which it has brought upon the good bourbons who have always believed that they ruled this state by divine right can not be described. To say that some of them foam at the mouth when talking of "Billy" Mahone would not be very wide of the mark. The failure of every plan devised to "bring the independents to their senses"—that is, to get them back into the democratic fold—has only intensified the hostility against them. They and their movement have been ridiculed and laughed at. But, in spite of jeers, it each day continues to grow more and more formidable. A spasmodic effort was made to get rid of it by methods which were so peculiarly effective in breaking down southern republicanism; but it was soon found that the readjusters were not unarmed and defenseless negroes. On the contrary, they were able to shoot quite as well and quite as often as the bourbons, and the ku-klux tactics were quickly and wisely abandoned. Then social ostracism, that favorite southern weapon, was tried, and without result. It was announced that Mistress this, that and the other, the wives of certain aristocratic bourbons, had declared their intention of not visiting the families of prominent readjusters so long as they persisted in giving countenance to "nigger politicians." And at this the families of the aforesaid readjusters turned their backs upon the ladies of "the first society," with the quiet intimation that a moderate share of happiness could be enjoyed in this world, even without their company. Under these circumstances there was, of course, nothing to be done but to declare war upon the traitors and officially announce from bourbon headquarters that even "radicals" were better than readjusters.

Only those who have lived in Virginia or traveled through it in former political campaigns can feel and know the changed conditions under which the people of all colors live, act and talk. Virginia before the war was a slave state; since the war in everything which related to politics it has been free only in name. It is now free in reality. All men of all parties can freely express their opinions. The whites are divided among themselves, and the color line is a thing of the past.

The man who more than all other men has contributed to these great results is William Mahone, of Petersburg. He is a self-made man. He weighs not more than ninety-five pounds. He may well be described as a little bundle of brain, muscle and bone. He is the most active man in the south. He seems never to rest. He is now 53 years of age, and hopes to live until the "old south" and "solid north" have both been broken up. His father was a tavern-keeper. He is, and always has been, one of the people. He was born in Virginia. He is a graduate of one of the best schools in the state, is a man of deep reading, and his own work as a civil engineer and railway manager has won fortune, and built for himself and his family a house which, by reason of its quiet appointments, softness, and the order and neatness of all its surroundings, may well serve as a model to all the south. Gen. Mahone has succeeded, despite the bourbons. He owes them nothing. He intends to pay them nothing. As they have done in the past, he dares them in the future to do their worst against him and his party. He has fought their battles, led their armies, built their railways, developed their state. He has now undertaken the task of permanently liberalizing their politics. Unless all signs fail, he will have done so before the expiration of his six years' term in the United States senate. He still professes to be a democrat, but in this connection he says—and I will quote his exact words:—

"I will not permit bourbonism to con[illegible] for me what true organizations democracy is, nor will I permit bourbons to rule me out of the democratic party."

As to the government of this state he has said within the week to one of his friends,—and again I quote his exact words: "As far as my personal influence extends the political rights of every class of the people of Virginia, and of every individual of every class, as guaranteed by the constitution, shall be equally respected."

So long as General Mahone lives up to these declarations he may safely be trusted to control the politics of Virginia. He is at least to be congratulated upon having laid the corner stone of what may be a new and liberal south.

LITERARY NOTES.

Few literary men are doing the amount of work at present undertaken by Henry James, Jr. Two serials are in progress, and this is only a part of the work which he finds time to do.

Dr. Kuenen's hypothesis of the exilic and post-exilic origin of the "Elohistic" portion of the Pentateuch is, says the Academy, rapidly gaining ground among the philological students of the Old Testament.

Mr. Pearson of Pall Mall has discovered in a weekly newspaper of 1822 a political ode by Byron that was not hitherto known to be his. It will be printed shortly, with a copy of the poet's letter relating to the same.

The history of Christmas annuals for the English market would be a curious one. Once upon a time they appeared about Christmas, but now they are projected at Candlemas, written by St. John's Eve and printed about Michaelmas. They discount the season of holly and mistletoe three months at least.

"How to Pay Church Debts" is the title of a little pamphlet by Rev. Sylvanus Stall, in which seven chapters are devoted to the consideration of [illegible] church edifices. He [illegible] nothing wiser than the text he takes for his title: "Owe no man anything."—Romans xiii. 8.

Harper's Magazine is to have a European edition to begin in December, and of which Sampson, Low & Co. will be the publishers. It will be partly printed in England, where the editorial departments will be replaced by matter better suited to the English public. Mr. Thomas Hardy is writing a novel for Harper's to be illustrated by Du Maurier.

A Boston correspondent writes that "R. Waldo Emerson is still about and moves about with tolerable celerity, yet there is considerable of the information in his countenance and a [illegible] of decay in his impressive features. Oliver Wendell Holmes, at a distance, looks dapper and youthful; but a close glance at his features reveals the old age."

A Democrat who Discounts Barnum.

[From the Sedalia (Mo.) Democrat, (Dem.) Oct. 22.]

And now the democrats are complaining whiningly that the republicans are colonizing in New York city, and that they mean to play the same game there that was recently played in Indiana. Merciful God, has it come to pass that with the whole elective machinery of this great city in the hands of the democrats, from the littlest cog to the biggest driving wheel, the party elsewhere has to be disgusted with pitiful lamentations over republican chicanery and fraud? Go to old Tweed's grave and get inspiration from the bones of the dead bull-dozer. He won. He had fight in him. Rather than whine he would have died at the stake, hurting slowly. He had no need to whine. He stuffed ballot boxes, bought votes, colonized voters, kept an army of repeaters in pay, an army of shoulder hitters in constant practice. He won. Victory anoints and absolves. This is the slush age. American suffrage is only coveted as something that is marketable. Go into the market and buy. Where one republican is colonized, colonize two democrats; discount the repeaters; do as you please with the ballot boxes; do anything to carry the state for Hancock. Win, only win and psalms will be sung for you in the churches, and fatted calves killed for you in state houses and capitals. As for the right of such work, stuff! The civil war killed everything in politics but victory.

THE COMMITTEE'S APOLOGY.

There could be no shallower attempt at defense and exculpation than that of the democratic national committee in relation to the Morey forgery. Arraigned before the country for subornation of forgery and perjury and for telegraphing broadcast studied falsehoods to support those crimes; with the forgery proven, the perjury confessed, the tools of the conspiracy in the toils of the law, and all the facts pointing unerringly to Barnum, Hewitt and their associates on the committee as the actual criminals, an attempt to present some kind of excuse or defense is thought necessary. But that same obtuse moral perception which led to approval of the original forgery and its attempts to back it up by the testimony of perjurors whom the committee employed and paid, prevents Barnum and his coadjutors from perceiving that any defense must now not only be wholly inadequate, but must emphasize still more the infamy of political managers who could resort to such methods to carry their ends.

It is now admitted on all hands that the letter is a forgery. The attempted defense set out by Barnum's committee virtually concedes it, for if the letter were not a forgery no kind of defense would be necessary. The main point in the attempted defense is that the letter was not seen by the committee nor by any member thereof till after it had appeared in the obscure newspaper that first published it. The probabilities are all strongly against this claim; but even if it were true, still it constitutes no defense, for the reason that the committee hastened to adopt the forgery and make it its own. Not only this, but the committee telegraphed to all parts of the country many thousands of words every day in support of its claim that the letter was a genuine one. It professed to have letters and affidavits from Lynn, Mass., certifying that Henry L. Morey had lived there. It fabricated or paid for the fabrication of a letter signed "John W. Goodall," who professed to be the man who had administered the estate of the said Henry L. Morey and had found this letter among his papers and it produced a false affidavit from Mrs. Clara L. Morey, of Lynn, which made her say that she was the mother of said Henry L. Morey. These precious documents it transmitted by telegraph to all parts of the country, and accompanied them by statements and commentaries as false as the documents themselves. Then the committee, either through its own members, or through agents employed for the purpose, suborned witnesses to swear that they had known the Henry L. Morey in question; and one of these witnesses, thus suborned and paid by check out of the funds of the committee to perpetrate the crime of perjury, was a man who was induced to make oath that the Morey to whom the alleged letter purported to be addressed was his own relation. And this false testimony, now confessed to be the fruit of hired perjury, was telegraphed all over the United States by agents of the committee, and the expense thereof was paid by the committee, as that of employing the perjurers themselves had also been. And Hewitt himself went on the stand and claimed that he had special and intimate knowledge of Garfield's handwriting, and that the signature was undoubtedly his. It is gratifying to observe that he is writhing now under the consciousness that exposure of the conspiracy through confession of its instruments has covered him and his associates with infamy that will not be put off so easily as the supple politician usually hopes to get rid of the consequences of campaign rascality. For this transgression goes beyond all bounds hitherto attempted. It is the palmary act of political villainy. Our political contests have furnished many exhibitions of unscrupulous conduct in the strife for party ascendency, but this stands alone in towering and incontestible infamy. As the villainy itself is without a parallel, so the industry and energy with which these desperate liars, who had summoned forgery and perjury to their aid, pursued the criminal scheme on which they had based the last hopes of their campaign, stand unmatched for diabolical activity. Until the last moment, when the last ballot had been cast, this committee lifted its head and lied with unshaken resolution, vouched for the work of its paid perjurers, and telegraphed at the expense of its treasury its fabricated statements to all parts of the country. Such was the nature of the forgery, relating as it did to a subject on which our working classes are abnormally, though very justly sensitive, that it cannot be doubted that it had much effect in the election. The south was solid. It was known that the bulldozer would deliver the 138 electoral votes as he had promised. Loss of Indiana produced great alarm, since Indiana and New York had been counted on for the complemental votes. It was necessary to look elsewhere for the votes that Indiana denied. Then the plot was formed to supplement the vote of New York, which they expected to carry by fraud, with that of the Pacific states, which they expected to carry by forgery. Had they succeeded in carrying New York, then New Jersey and any one of the Pacific states would have given them victory. But New York was lost, and they lost all. Barnum and his co-criminals forged in vain and suborned perjury in vain, as they had hitherto lied, stolen and bribed in vain. The voice of the country found a way to express itself with effect against all the agencies of opposition, including the Morey chest, the tissue ballot, the shot-gun and the southern count. It would be unjust, however, to suppose that all democrats approve the iniquitous and infamous means employed by the managers of their party to obtain success. The misfortune was that the party fell under the direction and management of men who, instead of appealing to high principles, relied solely on these most miserable expedients. There are many democrats who saw clearly enough, long before the election, that there was no moral force in such a campaign, and they could not but regret the degradation to which the management of their party had fallen, and the foredoomed defeat which was to be its inevitable result.

SENTIMENTAL AND VISIONARY.

Perhaps it is not so strange that the Dominion government has been able to induce a private company to undertake the construction of the Canadian Pacific railroad, when the terms offered the company are considered; but on less favorable conditions any responsible company might well decline to attempt a work of such magnitude as that of building a railroad through a wilderness twenty-five hundred miles in extent, where the winters are exceptionally severe, and through no small part of which rugged mountains form a most difficult barrier. To induce the company to undertake the work the government gives the road so far as constructed and on which it has expended thirty millions of dollars, and it adds to this a guarantee of twenty-five millions in cash and an enormous grant of lands. The road is now virtually completed from the great lakes across to Manitoba; but this is hardly a beginning. The real obstacles, however, are not found so much in the magnitude of the undertaking as in the fact that the country for a large part of the way is an uninhabited wilderness. That is the nature of the region even from Lake Superior to Manitoba, a distance of more than 600 miles, over which the road is now nearly finished. West of Manitoba the country is purely a problematic region, except as to climate, which is known to be bitterly severe. Through British Columbia no route can be found except an extremely mountainous one. Local traffic for a railroad, there will be almost none. As an eastern magazine, in an article on the enterprise justly says, the undertaking will be "commercial in form but political in character." That is to say, were there no political frontier running from Lake Superior to Vancouver's Sound no one would think of running a railroad north of that line. If the land donated by the Dominion government be of any value, then the gift to the company is of a magnitude that will create a land monopoly more extensive than any in America. It is idle to pretend that a railroad through such a region is required by the business offering or likely to offer for years to come—if indeed there shall ever be business to support it. The road has not been undertaken because it would pay even prospectively, but because the promise to build had been pledged to induce colonies to enter the Dominion. The enterprise as it stands is a purely sentimental and visionary one.

Joseph Hatton, the London journalist, who has been traveling in the United States, writes to his home paper of his experience at the delivery of Col. Ingersoll's lecture, "What Shall I Do to Be Saved?" in Chicago. He says: "Maud S. on Saturday, Ingersoll on Sunday, seemed to me to hit American characteristics of the day as contrasted with the specialties of the old world. Both are representative of the practicalism of American life. I have in a previous letter shown why trotting is preferred in America, while running is the favorite racing gait of England. Similar reasons, so far as their practical data go, may be found for the existence of a speaker who boldly arraigns God on His throne, and brings to the bar the churches who revealed Him." But is Ingersoll worse or different from Bradlaugh, except in being a more eloquent man? Hatton seems to think so. "If the great western orator visits London to deliver his lectures," says Hatton, "he must tone down the strong colors of his denunciation of the bible. The book is the rock upon which it is claimed that Christian England has built her house. Huxley and Darwin, and many other Englishmen of distinction, do not accept the biblical tradition, but they are content to wait for the revelations of science which are to modify it; and the man who comes before the public to decry it and scoff at its God will find difficulties and tribulation in his path that he does not dream of in America."

In discoursing upon the election and its results the New York Herald says the democratic wagon is mired again and it advises the owners to begin to unload as quickly as possible. Passing from general to particular advice, it says: "In the first place, they had better fling out a bulky package labelled 'solid south.' They will never get out of the bog they are in till they fling it away." Very good advice, but Wade Hampton, as a dispatch given to-day says, has issued a proclamation to the effect that the organization of the solid south party must not be relaxed. The Herald continues: "Then they had better unload Mr. John Kelly without needless delay. They cannot afford him. They had better at the same time ship Mr. Barnum and his celebrated mules. Also they might profitably dispense with the further services of Senator Randolph of New Jersey, who was the 'promoter' so to speak of that foolish letter on the tariff, in which poor General Hancock was led to announce himself to the American public as a sort of patent ignoramus. Finally, the democrats ought to get rid of the people who imagine they can carry an election by the invention of Chinese letters—and, by the way, they might as well hunt up some real democrats with brains to manage their affairs hereafter."

A Chicago paper notes the fact that from half a dozen western cities, Chicago included, which contemplate the erection of church buildings comes the demand for a new departure in church architecture. The call is for an architect who can free himself from the tyranny of the conventional type of church buildings, diminutive cathedrals and gothic infelicities. The pretentious city church is undoubtedly the most costly and least available and practical of modern buildings.

During the administration of President Hayes the national debt has been reduced $107,000,000, with a saving of $6,000,000 in interest annually. During the same time the enormous sum of $865,000,000 of public revenue has been collected and expended, with a loss of only one-third of one cent on every $1,000.

THE PORTLAND BRIDGE

We are asked to publish the following [illegible]

[illegible] BRIDGE [illegible] 1880 [illegible] for an engineer's part of the [illegible] necessity for and the effect on the navigation of the river of the proposed bridge [illegible] Portland [illegible]

[illegible] JOHN [illegible] Portland [illegible]

[illegible] fully reported that [illegible] As the bill is silent in regard to [illegible] river [illegible] Willamette [illegible]

The subject of bridging the Willamette river between Portland and East Portland [illegible] carefully investigating [illegible] of engineers [illegible] at that time the [illegible] business of the [illegible] north [illegible] primary [illegible] other [illegible] inducement to [illegible] the proposed bridge. [illegible] devastated [illegible] nearly all the wharves [illegible] This disaster [illegible] great [illegible] the district [illegible] destroyed by the [illegible] extensive improvements [illegible] their up stream [illegible]

With the [illegible] the present [illegible] advantage to [illegible] that the two portions of the [illegible] on the city front [illegible] for docking [illegible] Morrison street would [illegible] river [illegible]

A not inconsiderable part of the [illegible] Willamette river valley [illegible] in the river boats is landed at the wharves between Morris n and Columbia streets and transferred thence to seagoing vessels [illegible] even medium stage of water would find a bridge a serious obstruction.

The swift current during a high stage and the want of sufficient room for vessels to swing before entering the draw would present [illegible] going above the draw unless [illegible] required to do so. It is my opinion that the commercial interests of the city and river demand that any bridge which is to span the river should not be built north of Columbia street and I would recommend that the bill which is very general in its terms be so modified as to require that the incorporators [illegible] receiving authority to commence the construction shall have the location and plans of said bridge approved by the honorable the secretary of war after a thorough examination by a board of engineers as is usual in like cases.

THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

Wheat is selling at Elkton Douglas county at 60 cents per bushel. Potatoes $1.

The foundry and machine shop in Roseburg is running on long time in order to fill the number of demands made upon it. The gentlemen in charge are found to give satisfaction.

A S Miller & Son who had a number of contracts for building bridges in Douglas county finished their last contract—the bridge across Cow Creek on the stage road Saturday of last week.

Workmen engaged in digging a cellar in Roseburg discovered the skeleton remains of a couple of old Indians. They appeared to be in a good state of preservation although they must have been aborigines of the old school such as existed here before the days of the "oldest inhabitant."

The facts concerning a tragedy by which Woodson Patters a respectable citizen of Douglas county lost his life last Tuesday are detailed as follows. Mr Patters having killed a deer in the fore part of the day took his horse and gun and went out to bring it in some time during the afternoon. Late in the evening the horse returned wounded without a rider. Search being made Mr Patterson was found in the woods with a wound in the head in a dying condition. He was taken home and surgical aid procured but he died about midnight. The wound in his head was supposed to be that of a gun shot and as there was an empty shell in the gun it was supposed that in some manner the gun was accidentally exploded and he received the fatal wound. Parties are investigating the matter and the truth may be obtained.

Washington Territory.

There is at present a balance of $500 in the city treasury of Olympia and $1000 due in taxes.

Two new warehouses are to be built in Seattle at once—one on Yesler's wharf and the other in North Seattle.

The Tumwater mill has been supplied with a new flume and a new water wheel and is again running after being laid up several months.

Nine or ten tribes of Indians were represented at the grand potlatch at Squaxon Island last week. The gifts were made by the chiefs, and the amounts given away were very large. A war dance was performed for the amusement of Gov Newell and his party on the day of their visit.

Several trains of logs from Ben Turner's camp at Bush Prairie were taken to the bay last week. It is expected to bring in 80,000 feet a day after the cars get to working well. Three cars are used made to lengthen out to suit the size of the logs. The distance to haul them is about four miles.

Transcript. On Monday last Governor Newell visited Sherman valley, where the Newell colony have settled and was much pleased with the prospects of the colony. They have made an excellent road nearly to the valley, having done a large amount of work on it. The governor reports the valley a very rich one, the soil being unsurpassed anywhere. He thinks the colony have made a good choice of location and in a few years' time cannot help but have a wealthy settlement.

Citizens of Eugene will meet Friday evening to discuss the question of fire and water. They have had too much of the former and too little of the latter lately.

If you wish a first class piano or organ at a low price go to Simon Harris, Famond block.

The Oregon Kidney Tea has been awarded two medals by the Oregon State Agricultural Society, the first of bronze and the second of gold, the difference in the value of the two indicating the increase in the esteem of the community which a year's trial of the remedy has induced. SARA BERNHARDT

A Much Puffed and Greatly Overestimated Actress

From a Paris Letter

[illegible] the [illegible] I was informed [illegible] the first of [illegible] that [illegible] early [illegible] when [illegible] did [illegible]

[illegible] Virginia [illegible] New York [illegible] Modjeska in the same [illegible]

[illegible] interest in wearing ill fitting and clinging garments, wide flowing sleeves and [illegible] Bernhardt now [illegible]

She is young in an unbecoming [illegible] that spoils this [illegible] under the eyes to her very neck. Her [illegible] as to her artistic behavior [illegible] is a true artist one must feel the character one impersonates [illegible] Mlle Bernhardt [illegible] She [illegible] old and at times [illegible] Sara Bernhardt never [illegible] forgetting her self [illegible] not for art, but rather for the applause of her audience. She [illegible] approaches greatness in the two last acts in the scene with the princess [illegible] have the same fever at dizzy rivals, and in the death scene She cannot arouse up to enthusiasm [illegible] sympathy. One remembers always it is an artist in acting as she never loses her identity for one moment which becomes painfully monotonous.

Her extensive advertising has given her the fame which she has not earned by her talents as an actress but by her eccentricities her private life her reputed genius as a sculptress and artist. At the salon I saw a specimen of her skill in the last named art a painting called "Death and the Young Girl." The background represented a room covered with pink wall paper at the front [illegible] figure dressed in the style of our grandmothers with a skeleton in white flowing drapery peering over her shoulder. It is a most wretched attempt, a mere daub, and would not have found hanging room anywhere were it not for the name attached to it. If Mlle Bernhardt succeeds in America it will be a surprise to those who know how critical a New York audience is and that they appreciate those who possess genuine talent and not dramatic shams.

Take Arthur to Fishel & Roberts for one of those nobby suits.

If you want fine English breech loading shotguns go to Uncle Myers, 181 First st.

The original Pine street Coffee House is now on Washington st., bet First and Second.

The man who won large bets on the election is no happier than the individual we saw coming out of Beck & Waldman's store. The party had a bundle under his arm containing a new suit and judging from the smile on the man's countenance he had struck a bonanza.

The Way to [illegible] mind diseased is to take Peruvian Syrup a protected solution of the protoxide of iron which gives strength and vigor to the whole system, restores the digestive organs and cures the [illegible] by restoring the blood to its natural vigor.

FREIGHTS FOR THE PACIFIC.

Steamship, Railway and Clipper Freights at New York—Speculations as to the Future.

NEW YORK Nov 13.—Freights via Cape Horn although not so active as they might be are more lively than at any time this season This is owing in part to the movement of a large quantity of freight outside of regular shippers for the light house department and also for the sugar refinery at San Francisco Some of this freight has already gone forward, but the great bulk of it is yet to go and this added to the movement of agricultural goods is likely to make the market active for some time, and also to sustain rates, unless per chance all lines should manage to get vessels on berth when no doubt there will be triangular competition which would result in cutting of rates

Tonnage is in moderate supply some of the late arrivals having been placed Ship owners as a general thing are firm in their views and as a consequence agents will not charter at above current rates for freight No vessels have been taken during the past few days

Isthmus freights are fairly active and it is understood that steamers for this month will have all freights engaged that they are guaranteed by their contract with the railroad, viz 400 tons per steamer

Regarding the new route of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe road, there is very little that is made public It is rumored, however, that in the face of proposed consolidation of the Union and Central Pacifics that all freight contracts will be offered at the close of the current year and that they will not be renewed and that it is probable that both routes will enter the market for freight at best rates obtainable from shippers

Freights at Boston are quite active and at Philadelphia the market is fairly active

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar-coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR McLANE'S LIVER PILLS

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C McLANE and FLEMING BROS on the wrappers

Insist upon having the genuine DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS prepared by Fleming Bros of Pittsburgh, Pa the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation

THE ARMY

Annual Report of the General of the Army—Recommendations and Descriptive.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN

WASHINGTON Nov 15—The annual report of General Sherman to the secretary of war is given to the public to-day After calling attention to the various subordinate reports Sherman says I agree with Sheridan that the army is too small in enlisted men to fulfill the heavy duties now imposed on it and is overworked I therefore renew my recommendation of last year that congress be asked to give 25,000 enlisted men exclusively to the corps of the line of the army to make separate provision for detachments of advance men engineers of battalion hospital stewards, commissary sergeants West Point detachments detailed clerks, etc in the same manner as has already been done for the signal corps In this connection I will venture to call your attention to the fact that the revised statutes, edition of 1878, section 1115, defining the organization of the army limits the strength to not more than 30 000 enlisted men; but subsequent bills by provisos appear to have limited expenditures to 25 000 enlisted men Still the legal strength is 30,000 enlisted men and that number is the least possible at which we can maintain the present organization of 400 regiments in anything like good order, discipline and economy and I infer this end can be reached by omitting the proviso in the next appropriation bill Present financial condition of the treasury may now enable congress to provide suitable armaments for the forts which guard the chief harbors of the country Speaking of the Northern Pacific, Kansas Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads then [illegible] These railroads have completely revolutionized [illegible] military and entire change of policy Hitherto [illegible] have been compelled to maintain small posts [illegible] wagon and the routes of travel There are [illegible] longer needed because no longer [illegible] settlements which grow up speedily [illegible] new railroads afford the security necessary [illegible] the regular stations built for shelter [illegible] distances afford shelter for military [illegible] the men when operating [illegible] should now absolutely abandon [illegible] posts hitherto necessary and concentrate at strategic points—generally near the [illegible] [illegible] districts [illegible] given [illegible] power to dispose [illegible] of the United States and we [illegible] lands and [illegible] earnestly recommend that provision [illegible] for the sale of such abandoned [illegible] [illegible] the property of the United States

[illegible] Arizona [illegible] presses the [illegible] would become commercial towns rather than military posts In my judgment the [illegible] the military authority to select suitable strategic points for permanent occupation and [illegible] whence detachments can be sent out [illegible] As long as we possess [illegible] [illegible] waste and we [illegible] to hold them [illegible] gress will [illegible] war and board of officers the right to sell these [illegible] and appropriate [illegible] proceeds of the sale to strategic points I am certain it will result in great economy and enable us to maintain large garrisons with increased dignity and better service

For similar reasons and because the commerce of the world is carried on in ships of 300 tons or over and because of the heavy draft of war vessels most of our sea coast defenses are superfluous We now have over 50,000 000 people, and there is a fear of hostile forces landing on our coasts is [illegible] Yet our great commercial ports should be made safe that never an apprehension of danger would not be felt Portland Boston, Newport, New York Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Port Royal, Key West, Pensacola New Orleans San Diego San Francisco and Port Townsend should all be properly fortified and garrisoned All minor forts should be sold or abandoned An annual appropriation of $1 000 000 would in a few years put those forts in good order, and another million a year would arm them and the secretary of war and the president should have the discretion in the disbursement of this money.

Artillery officers should also be associated with the engineers in constructing altering and repairing the sea coast defenses because the men who have to fight these batteries should have something to do in their construction

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Debate in the French Senate.

PARIS Nov 15.—In the senate to-day M Buffet interpellated the government concerning the ministerial crisis which resulted in Del revelations respecting the expulsion of unauthorized religious congregations Buffet expressed a belief that the application of the decrees was a mere pretext for LaFreycinet's overthrow the real reason being his disapproval of the speech delivered by Gambetta at Cherbourg

Ferry denied Buffet's insinuations He declared that the leaders of the monarchial coalition were in league with the religious establishments and that their resistance to the laws amounted to veritable rebellion to which it was necessary to put an end He charged that money and position had been offered police officials if they would refuse to execute the decrees

Ferry asks the senate to reject the interpellation in order to put an end to anarchy

DeFreycinet said the question between himself and his colleagues was not whether their enforcement was opportune

NEW YORK MARKETS.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The markets have remained comparatively steady under continued fair inquiry for principal articles of merchandise during the current week, and as a rule values have been well sustained, while in some instances a further advance has been established, indicative of continued confidence in the future.

Wheat to-day is fairly active and three-fourths higher. Shippers are almost wholly out of the market. As to foreign markets, the continental ones are four to five under ours, while British are not so weak, yet sufficient to check business almost wholly on new orders.

Barley—Firmer.

Pork—Quiet, easier.

Lard—Steady, quiet.

Rio Coffee—Fairly active, quarter higher.

Refined Sugars—Firmer and better demand at about last week's quotations.

Teas—Quiet, prices uncertain in the absence of any movement. At the auction sale yesterday Greens sold fairly; Pingsueys, rather easy; Japanese, common grades, off, but better; Clara, well sustained; Congous, very well; Formosas, fairly and others good as compared with last sale.

Raisins—Moving to a fair extent, but continue so irregular in price as to prevent large transactions. Layers, $2 35; loose, $2 10; London layers, $2 30@2 60. Valencias, 8@8½c.

Currants—Prime quality bring 5¾c; off grade easy and dull.

Prunes—Unchanged; new, firm; old, easy.

Figs—Slow and unsettled; layers, 14a18c.

Borax—Good demand; prices steady at $2@4 25 [illegible].

Hops—Lively demand from shippers for prime and choice, prices firm. A carload of choice California sold at 25c, supposed for export.

Hides—Firmly held and business checked in consequence.

Leather—Brisk demand and prices steady.

Turpentine—Not very active but firm.

Rosins—Quiet and nominal.

Petroleum—Dull and nominal; cases 150 test, 25c.

Sperm and Whale Oils—Quiet and steady; sales New Bedford 120 barrels South Sea whale and 101 barrels sperm, private.

Pig Iron—Fair demand with market well supplied; prices steady at $24 50@25 50 for No. 1 X.

Lead—Been more active at easier prices; sales include 400 tons Selby at $4 70@4 75, held higher at the close.

Tin Plates—Fair demand and steady.

Hardware—Good and fair demand for most all descriptions at steady prices.

Nails—Fair demand, prices unsettled, sales low as $2 75.

Wool—Fair demand, and the recent advance is well maintained; sales include 115,000 lbs spring Cala, part 18@25c.

Dry Goods—Have moved with more than usual freedom, and many makes of cotton goods have advanced.

Boots and Shoes—Also have been lively in demand.

FREIGHTS FOR THE PACIFIC.

Steamship, Railway and Clipper Freights at New York—Speculations as to the Future.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Freights via Cape Horn, although not so active as they might be, are more lively than at any time this season. This is owing in part to the movement of a large quantity of freight outside of regular shippers for the lighthouse department, and also for the sugar refinery at San Francisco. Some of this freight has already gone forward, but the great bulk of it is yet to go, and this added to the movement of agricultural goods is likely to make the market active for some time, and also to sustain rates, unless, per chance, all lines should manage to get vessels on berth, when no doubt there will be triangular competition, which would result in cutting of rates.

Tonnage is in moderate supply, some of the late arrivals having been placed. Ship owners as a general thing are firm in their views, and as a consequence agents will not charter at above current rates for freight. No vessels have been taken during the past few days.

Isthmus freights are fairly active, and it is understood that steamers for this month will have all freights engaged that they are guaranteed by their contract with the railroad, viz.: 400 tons per steamer.

Regarding the new route of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, there is very little that is made public. It is rumored, however, that in the face of proposed consolidation of the Union and Central Pacifics that all freight contracts will be offered at the close of the current year, and that they will not be renewed, and that it is probable that both routes will enter the market for freight at best rates obtainable from shippers.

Freights at Boston are quite active, and at Philadelphia the market is fairly active.

Chicago Markets.

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—No. 63 First street, between Oak and Pine.

Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.

All letters of professional business must be addressed to Dr. Paul M. Brenan & Co., Portland, Oregon.

Meets the requirements of the rational medical philosophy which at present prevails. It is a perfectly pure vegetable remedy, embracing the three important properties of a preventive, a tonic and an alternative. It fortifies the body against disease, invigorates and revitalizes the torpid stomach and liver, and effects a most salutary change in the entire system, when in a morbid condition.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

(IN LOZENGE FORM,)

Is pleasant to take, and serves the purpose of Pills, Aperients, and nauseous Purgatives.

TROPIC-FRUIT LAXATIVE is put up in bronzed tin boxes only. Avoid imitations. Ask your druggist for Descriptive Pamphlet, or address the proprietor,

TO

Sportsmen and Tourists.

THE UPPER CASCADES AND VICINITY, AT the present season offers the finest inducements of perhaps any locality within a radius of 200 miles of Portland. Lake, brook and mountain trout await the disciples of the "gentle art," whilst the followers of Nimrod can find with the festive bear and fruitless cougar to their heart's content whilst deer are not unknown.

An elegant and comfortable hotel (The Borthwick House) is now established, with Portland prices and reliable guides, dogs, boats, guns, and everything necessary for an outfit can be had within ten minutes.

The glorious mountain scenery, elegant river views, and enormous government works, alone, will amply repay a visit.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequalled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Passion Play.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Baptist pastors' conference of this city unanimously [illegible] adopted the following: In view of the projected [illegible] Passion play on one of the theaters of this city, [illegible] [illegible]. That as a conference we protest against [illegible] the sacrilegious use of the most sacred things of our religion.

The Tribune says: The scheme to represent the Passion play at Booth's is looked on with great disfavor by the clergymen of New York. Tribune reporters have talked about the matter with Rev. Drs. Henry Potter, John Hall, Thos. Armitage, J. P. Newman, H. W. Bellows, Edward McGlynn, and Rev. Robert Collyer. All are strongly opposed to the plan and give their reasons for their opposition in a temperate but impressive and forcible manner. The feeling in the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Unitarian and Roman Catholic churches of this city is indicated by these interviews, and it seems plain that if the purpose to present the play is carried out it will be full in the face of a strong public sentiment.

Compromise not Repudiation.

Gov. Cobb, of Alabama, is witty in the discussion of financial topics. He remarked to a Times representative that the state debt has been reduced by compromise from $34,000,000 to $10,000,000, but there had been no repudiation.

Secretary Thompson.

The Times has a story from Washington that Secretary Thompson has made himself very unpopular by his treatment of subordinates and those on the road to promotion, and that his economy will have to be paid for by future administrations.

Report Corrected.

The son-in-law of the late General Sutter corrects the report of the death of the General's wife, recently published. He says Mrs. Sutter though feeble is in better health than during the summer. The movement among Californians here for her relief is progressing slowly.

Export Trade.

The comparative statement of exports from New York to foreign ports for ten months from January 1st, shows an increase exclusive of specie of $52,[illegible] over 1879. With specie included the excess is $17,434,303 and $48,218,243 respectively.

The Congregational Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—The Congregational convention decided to appoint a committee of 25 on the subject of creeds. Dr. Edward Beecher read a report recommending the present congressional representative from Utah, be not admitted to his seat in congress, and that the territory be refused admission to the union until polygamy is abolished there. The report received repeated applause, but was not adopted, for the reason that it was not clear that congress had the right to exclude the Utah delegate. It was ordered printed, however.

Murder.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 15.—The wife of Samuel Davidson, a prominent lawyer of New York, was found murdered this morning on the porch of her house.

Mill Burned.

TROY, Nov. 15.—Aiken, McLaren & Wynant's knitting mill at West Sand lake was burned by incendiary; loss, $35,000; insurance, $16,000.

Jesse the Wicked Boy.

CONCORD, Mass., Nov. 15.—Jesse Pomeroy has been detected in another scheme to escape from his strong cell by sawing through the thick boiler casing with a saw improvised from a knife. He cut an aperture through 10 inches long and 9 inches wide. He was discovered by the yard officers.

Big Price for a Drink.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—Four railroad men went into Flanegan's saloon about half past 11 last night, and ordered the drinks which were paid for. Shortly afterwards more drinks were taken, and the party started to leave the saloon without paying for them. Flanegan asked for pay; a row ensued in which Flanegan drew a revolver and shot Tobias Laughlin dead, and shot a ball through the lungs of his brother, Daniel Laughlin. The dead body of Tobias was taken to the morgue, and his brother sent to his boarding house, 1709 Broadway. Tobias Laughlin was a conductor on the Wabash road, and had a wife and two children somewhere in Canada.

Internal Improvements.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Times says the projected ship canal from Chicago to the Mississippi will not be allowed to slumber in a period of such prosperity as now envelopes the land. Congressman Farwell will urge the widening of the Illinois & Michigan canal to LaSalle, and the improvement of the Illinois river. The secretary of the board of trade, Charles Randolph, favors a new cut from LaSalle to the most direct point on the "father of waters." The estimated cost of the scheme is $1,300,000 to $1,800,000.

Financial.

The Wall street prediction of high rates of interest is based upon the absorption of $125,000,000 or more in the construction of railroads to the Pacific coast. National banks have in the past ten months contracted their circulation only $1,553,[illegible].

Wintry Weather.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 15.—After an almost continuous rain of twenty-four hours, snow commenced falling about half-past seven this morning, and still continues to fall. A heavy storm is reported at Fayetteville and Goldsboro.

Sticking to the Office.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—The newly elected city officials called at the city hall and made a formal demand for possession. Mayor Patton and the administrators refused to surrender, saying they considered the late election illegal.

Guilty as Charged.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 15.—The jury in the case of James A. Hedden, defaulting cashier of the Newark savings bank, brought in a verdict of guilty of embezzlement and malfeasance.

Minnesota Official.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—Complete official returns from all the counties in the state make Garfield's majority [illegible]. Congressional majorities are as follows: 1st district, Dunnell's plurality over Wells, 9240; 2d district, Strait's majority, 5140; 3d district, Washburn's majority, 11,316. The total vote is 148,431. Nearly complete returns indicate a majority of something more than 1000 in favor of the text-book law.

Railroad Matters.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—The directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad were elected to-day. The gross earnings of the road were $18,316,000; net earnings, $1,287,009, an increase over last year of $4,124,[illegible]; increase in tonnage, over half a million tons, or one-third.

Fire in an Insane Asylum.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—A fire is reported raging in the state insane asylum at St. Peter and an engine has been sent up. There are 600 lunatics in the asylum. A dispatch from the mayor of St. Peter to Gov. Pillsbury says the insane asylum is completely destroyed. No particulars.

Sitting Bull Sulky.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Tribune's correspondent at Bismarck says Sitting Bull swears he will fight the U. S. troops forever and die rather than surrender. However he doubtless will be surrounded and captured this winter by Gen. Miles.

Barge and Crew Lost.

BUFFALO, Nov. 15.—The barge Morning Star from Toledo to Buffalo with a cargo of 10,400 bushels wheat, and owned by John Kilderhouse of this city, is reported lost in the storm last week with all on board. She was commanded by Captain John W. Thompson of this city and a crew of six men. The barge was insured for $17,000 and the cargo at $10,000.

The Exodus Still Goes On.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: Reports are received [illegible] that thousands of negroes are leaving Alabama and Louisiana and will continue the emigration all winter.

Commissioner Raum's Report.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says Commissioner Raum's report will show the year to have been far the best ever passed as far as his department is concerned. He will strongly recommend the repeal of the tax on matches as [illegible] the government does not need and is being [illegible] [illegible] imposition on a necessity of life. These and other articles and patent medicines are not in the same category as liquors and tobacco, which should be taxed.

Wants a Judgeship.

It is reported that David Davis wishes to return to the bench. This if true would give the republicans another senator from Illinois and control of the senate. Garfield is likely to have four supreme court vacancies during his term. The pressure is very great and growing stronger for the retention of Sherman as secretary of the treasury.

THE ARMY.

Annual Report of the General of the Army—Recommendations and Descriptive.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The annual report of Gen. Sherman to the secretary of war is given to the public to-day. After calling attention to the various subordinate reports Sherman says: I agree with Sheridan that the army is too small in enlisted men to fulfill the heavy duties now imposed on it, and are overworked. I therefore renew my recommendation of last year that congress be asked to give 25,000 enlisted men specifically to the corps of the line of the army; to make separate provision for detachments of advance men, engineers of battalion, hospital stewards, commissary sergeants, West Point detachments, detailed clerks, etc., in the same manner as has already been done for the signal corps. In this connection I will venture to call your attention to the fact that the revised statutes edition of 1878 section 1115, defining the organization of the army, limits the strength to not more than 30,000 enlisted men, but subsequent bills by provision appear to have limited expenditure to 25,000 enlisted men. Still the legal strength is 30,000 enlisted men, and that number is the least possible at which we can maintain the present organization of 100 regiments in anything like good order, discipline and economy, and I infer this end can be reached by omitting the proviso in the next appropriation bill. Prosperous times and the easy financial condition of the treasury may now enable congress to provide suitable armaments for the forts which guard the chief harbors of the country.

Speaking of the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, Gen. Sherman says: These railroads have completely revolutionized our country in the past few years and imposed on the military an entire change of policy. Hitherto we have been compelled to maintain small posts along wagon and stage routes of travel. These are no longer needed because no longer used, and the settlements which grow up speedily along new railroads afford the security necessary, and the regular stations built for storage at convenient distances, afford shelter for military stores and for the men when operating in the neighborhood. We should now absolutely abandon many of the smaller posts hitherto necessary, and concentrate at strategic points—generally near the national frontier, or where railroads intersect—so as to send out detachments promptly to districts where needed. Congress alone has the power to dispose of the property of the United States and we (the military) soon ourselves possessed of lands and sites obtained in early times for occupation and preservation, and I earnestly recommend that provision be made by law for the sale of such abandoned military posts and outbuildings as is found to be necessary, with the right to apply the proceeds of sale to other places the property of the United States.

Gen. Sherman specifies Dakota, Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona, and the Forts Keogh and Custer on the Yellowstone, but it is only four years ago, and expresses the opinion that in a very short time they will become commercial towns rather than military posts. In my judgment the time has now come for the military authority to select suitable strategic points for permanent occupation and improvements where detachments can be sent out for special service. As far as we possess and must care for these small posts it is impossible to abandon them to waste and we are forced to hold them; but if congress will delegate to the president, secretary of war and board of officers the right to sell these posts and appropriate the proceeds of the sale to strategic points I am certain it will result in great economy and enable us to maintain large garrisons with increased discipline and better service.

For similar reasons, and because the commerce of the world is carried on in ships of 2000 tons and over and because of the heavy draft of war vessels most of our sea coast defenses are superfluous. We now have over 50,000,000 people, and the fear of any hostile force landing on our coasts is preposterous. Yet our great commercial ports should be made so safe that even an apprehension of danger would not be felt. Portland, Boston, Newport, New York, Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Port Royal, Key West, Pensacola, New Orleans, San Diego, San Francisco and Port Townsend should all be properly fortified and garrisoned. All minor forts should be sold or abandoned. An annual appropriation of $[illegible],000,000 would in a few years put these forts in good order, and another million a year would arm them; and the secretary of war and the president should have the discretion in the disbursement of this money.

Artillery officers should also be associated with the engineers in constructing, altering and repairing the seacoast defenses, because the men who have to fight these batteries should have something to do in their construction.

Debate in the French Senate.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—In the senate to-day M. Buffet interpellated the government concerning the ministerial crisis which resulted in DeFreycinet's resignation, and concerning the expulsion of unauthorized religious congregations. Buffet expressed a belief that the application of the decrees was a mere pretext for DeFreycinet's overthrow, the real reason being his disapproval of the speech delivered by Gambetta at Cherbourg.

Ferry denied Buffet's insinuations. He declared that the leaders of the monarchial coalition were in league with the religious establishments and that the resistance to the laws amounted to veritable rebellion, to which it was necessary to put an end. He charged that money and position had been offered police officials if they would refuse to execute the decrees.

Ferry asked the senate to reject the interpellation in order to put an end to anarchy.

DeFreycinet said the question between himself and his colleagues was not whether their enforcement was opportune.

The debate adjourned until to-morrow.

BUCK GRANT'S BONANZA.

Ulysses Simpson Grant, Who Lost a Half Million in Flood Stock Speculation, Corners the Chaffee Fortune.

An Enterprising Young Speculator Who Understands the Matrimonial as Well as Mining Stock System of Speculation.

[New York Special Nov. 1, to Chicago Tribune.]

Ulysses Simpson Grant, Jr., the son and namesake of ex-President Grant, was married to Miss Fannie J., daughter of ex-Senator Jerome B. Chaffee, of Colorado, at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father, No. 26 West Fifty-eighth street. This disposes finally of all the unjust rumors which have been telegraphed from San Francisco as to the relations of young Mr. Grant and a wealthy California belle, and also of the frequently-published statement that Mr. Grant had been previously engaged to the daughter of a distinguished jurist who resides in western Pennsylvania. The marriage has done prevented the ex-president and his party from returning to Galena in time to cast his vote for Gen. Garfield, as he frequently expressed his intention of doing. The marriage has been the subject of discussion among the elite of New York for some time past, and has been regarded as a social event. The bridegroom is a lawyer of this city who has already won some distinction in his profession, and whose prospects are of the best.

THE BRIDE IS A BLONDE

Of the fairest type, aged about twenty-two, and has been a prominent belle in New York city since her introduction. The courtship which has resulted in her marriage with Mr. Ulysses is a little over a year old, and is described by the intimate friends of both as a match of pure love. The engagement has existed nearly three months, and has been thus early consummated only at the request and solicitation of the bridegroom. Two weeks ago the date of the ceremony was fixed for this afternoon, and, in accordance with arrangements, the ceremony was of a strictly private nature. The Rev. Dr. Newman performed the ceremony, which was in accordance with the Methodist modified form of the Episcopal church. The general went in the morning down town with Col. Fred, and their first visit was made to Tiffany's, where the last of the wedding presents were purchased. The ladies of the Grant party remained at the hotel, and the general and his son were accompanied only by the Rev. Dr. J. P. Newman. At 4 o'clock carriages lined the sidewalks between Fifth and Sixth avenues, and the few select guests who were to witness the ceremony were congregated in the parlors of the Chaffee mansion. At 4:20 P. M. the Rev. Dr. Newman entered the spacious parlors and was met at the folding doors by Mr. Grant and Miss Chaffee, the bridegroom on the right and the bride upon the left. The Rev. Dr. Newman occupied a position upon the left of the bride in front, and at the right and left were Gen. Grant, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Honore, Mrs. Elkins, and the remainder of the guests. The ceremony included the ring formula of the Episcopal church, and the ring was placed upon the finger of the bride by Mr. Grant, who made the responses in a clear, strong voice. The bride was attired in

NEW BRIDAL COSTUME,

Which elicited the admiration of all present, and she responded in a decided and comparatively unembarrassed tone. The wedding ring was of chased gold with a diamond and monogram, and was a marvel of taste and costliness. After the ceremony an elegant repast was served in the parlors, furnished by Delmonico, and prepared for the sixteen guests who were in attendance. There were no bridesmaids or groomsmen. All the guests were immediate relatives of the Grant family, with the exception of two or three personal friends of ex-Senator Chaffee. In addition to the bride's father, who gave her away, there were present Miss Chaffee, a younger sister; Gen. and Mrs. Grant, Col. and Mrs. Fred Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Honore, of Chicago; the Rev. Dr. John P. Newman, Mr. Stephen B. Elkins and Mr. William H. Hamilton. The presents were very rich, and numerous as well. Notwithstanding that the affair was considered entirely a family matter, so much so that even the members of the family of the officiating clergyman, who are on terms of the greatest intimacy with the ex-president and with all the members of the family, were not present—for the purpose of securing the greater privacy, it is understood that even the wedding preparations were intrusted entirely to a personal friend of the Colorado ex-senator in the city, that the latter's name might not be connected with the affair in advance. Even the men employed to arrange the supper had no idea that it was to be a wedding affair, and said so. The trousseau, which has been months in preparation, was shown only to the half-dozen ladies of the party, and will not be submitted to any description. The bridal trip will not be in the direction of Europe, which both bride and groom have seen, but will probably be in the direction of the southern states, ending with a possible winter trip to Mexico and New Mexico, and the southern territories. An intimate friend both of the bride and groom, as well as of the ex-president and of Senator Chaffee, said to-day that there never had been any engagement or any pretense of an engagement between Mr. Grant and Miss Flood—that their relations had only been friendly, and that they continued so to-day.

The bride's father gave the pair $400,000 in United States bonds. Young Grant is worth $250,000 in his own right, which he made by lucky stock speculations in New York.

RELIGIOUS FACT AND OPINION.

The Congregationalists stand next to the church of England in the city of London, providing nearly one-eighth of the whole religious accommodation.

A Congregationalist remarked at the Cumberland conference (Maine), a few days ago, that deacons were fast losing their old-time importance, and that the efficiency of church organizations would be promoted if the office would be magnified.

The minister of public worship has addressed a note to the bishops of France, urging them to make sure that the directors and supervisors of the seminaries do not recruit any of their professors from among the members of the non-authorized orders.

The Seventh Day Adventists report 15,570 members, a gain of 1429 the past year; 149 ministers; 166 licentiates, a loss of 35 and 640 churches, a gain of 41. The total of collections was $61,856, an increase of $10,142. There are 24 conferences and 8 missions.

"Running after pulpit novelty," says the Herald and Presbyter, "is spiritually unhealthy. Every one should, when it is possible, eat his victuals at his own table and worship at his own church. Moreover, spiritual as well as temporal food should be taken regularly."

The great work of church erection for which most of the evangelical churches have provision, is done mostly in the west. For example, of the 201 churches erected with the aid of the board of church extension of the United Presbyterian church, 15 are in the state of Iowa and 19 in Kansas.

The Observer denies that Dr. Prime opposed the admission of the Cumberland Presbyterians in the Pan-Presbyterian council. It thinks that body has as good right in the council as some churches already represented in it, and that it will be welcomed at the next meeting in Belfast, Ireland.

At the general convention of the disciples of Christ, held in Louisville recently, it was reported that there are now about 600,000 communicants in this country. Delegates were present from Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Tennessee, West Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Canada, England and Australia.

The synod of Ohio of the Reformed Church in the United States convened in Columbiana, Ohio, on the 19th of October. There were about 80 ministers and elders present. The largest portion of the membership of this synod lies in Ohio. Its numerical strength is about 25,000 members. Heidelberg college and theological seminary, located at Tiffin, Ohio, are under the care of this synod. The college recently received a bequest of $10,000 toward the establishment of a Hivling professorship from Miss Sarah A. Hivling, of Xenia, Ohio, who died last August.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The markets have remained comparatively steady under continued fair inquiry for principal articles of merchandise during the current week, and as a rule values have been well sustained, while in some instances a further advance has been established, indicative of continued confidence in the future.

Wheat to-day is fairly active and three-fourths higher. Shippers are almost wholly out of the market. As to foreign markets, the continental ones are four to five dollar ones, while British are not so weak, yet sufficient to check business almost wholly on new orders.

Barley—Firmer.

Pork—Quiet, easier.

Lard—Steady, quiet.

Rio Coffee—Fairly active, quarter higher.

Refined Sugars—Firmer and better demand at about last week's quotations.

Teas—Quiet, prices uncertain in the absence of any movement. At the auction sale yesterday Greens sold fairly; Pingsueys, rather easy; Japanese, common grades, off, but better; Claro, well sustained; Congous, very well; Formosas, fairly and orders good as compared with last sale.

Raisins—Moving to a fair extent, but continue so irregular in price as to prevent large transactions. Layers, $2 05; loose, $2 10; London layers, $2 50@2 60; Valencias, 8@8½c.

Currants—Prime quality bring 5¾c; off grades easy and dull.

Prunes—Unchanged; new, firm; old, easy.

Figs—Slow and unsettled; layers, 14@15c.

Borax—Good demand; prices steady at 42@42½c.

Hops—Lively demand from shippers for prime and choice; prices firm. A carload of choice California sold at 25c, supposed for export.

Hides—Firmly held and business checked in consequence.

Leather—Brisk demand and prices steady.

Turpentine—Not very active but firm.

Rosin—Quiet and nominal.

Petroleum—Dull and nominal; cases 150 test, 25c.

Sperm and Whale Oils—Quiet and steady; sales New Bedford 120 barrels South Sea whale and 100 barrels sperm, private.

Pig Iron—Fair demand with market well supplied; prices steady at $24 50@25 50 for No. 1 X.

Lead—Been more active at easier prices; sales include 400 tons Selby at $4 70@4 75; held higher at the close.

Tin Plates—Fair demand and steady.

Hardware—Good and fair demand for most all descriptions at steady prices.

Nails—Fair demand, prices unsettled, sales low as $2 75.

Wool—Fair demand, and the recent advance is well maintained; sales include 115,000 lbs spring Cala, part 18@23c.

Dry Goods—Have moved with more than usual freedom, and many makes of cotton goods have advanced.

Boots and Shoes—Also have been lively in demand.

FREIGHTS FOR THE PACIFIC.

Steamship, Railway and Clipper Freights at New York—Speculations as to the Future.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Freights via Cape Horn, although not so active as they might be, are more lively than at any time this season. This is owing in part to the movement of a large quantity of freight outside of regular shippers for the lighthouse department, and also for the sugar refinery at San Francisco. Some of this freight has already gone forward, but the great bulk of it is yet to go, and this added to the movement of agricultural goods is likely to make the market active for some time, and also to sustain rates, unless, per chance, all lines should manage to get vessels on berth, when no doubt there will be triangular competition, which would result in cutting of rates.

Tonnage is in moderate supply, some of the late arrivals having been placed. Ship-owners as a general thing are firm in their views, and as a consequence agents will not charter at above current rates for freight. No vessels have been taken during the past few days.

Isthmus freights are fairly active, and it is understood that steamers for this month will have all freights engaged that they are guaranteed by their contract with the railroad, viz., 400 tons per steamer.

Regarding the new route of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, there is very little that is made public. It is rumored, however, that in the face of proposed consolidation of the Union and Central Pacifics that all freight contracts will be offered at the close of the current year, and that they will not be renewed, and that it is probable that both routes will enter the market for freight at best rates obtainable from shippers.

Freights at Boston are quite active, and at Philadelphia the market is fairly active.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
